

HURRICANE DISASTER RELIEF

Due to the recent landfall of hurricanes Helene and Milton, thousands of people are suffering and experiencing complete devastation throughout the southeastern Atlantic states.

Fullington, and many other companies in our industry, is putting together an effort to help get much needed supplies to those in need. We are asking for your help in these efforts to gather as many essential items as possible. Our goal is to so fill one or more motor coaches which will be driven to the affected areas.

Donations are being accepted at all of our locations and then will be relocated to our State College location to be organized and loaded onto the coaches. Below is a list of basic supplies people are in need of immediately.
